Job Description or practice description: Moon Brook Medicine is looking for an associate acupuncturist to complement our growing practice. We are located in Rutland Vermont, the heart of the green mountains. Our practice utilizes Traditional Chinese Medicine including acupuncture, herbal medicine, dietary therapy and lifestyle modifications to support patients in their journey towards better health. We are highly professional with many provider referral sources and a great reputation in the area. The systems that we have put in place for daily office flow allows us to easily see 2-3 patients per hour.

You would be a great fit if you are motivated, organized, a 'people person', enjoy a good work-life balance but don't mind working a few evenings per week and a Saturday shift. You want to work with a group of professionals and find multiple modalities interesting and supportive. You are incentivized by additional revenue and are passionate about utilizing the tools eastern medicine provides to help your patients. You are a clear communicator and appreciate working as a member of a team. You like systems as a way to hold ease and flow and you are open to support and guidance in your role as well as becoming an expert in 1-2 areas if you are not already.

We are a general clinic, treating a wide range including pain, women's health, digestion, autoimmune, allergies and asthma. We treat some children, but our primary focus is on adults of all ages. We treat using TCM. Our approach is about getting to the root of the problem, as well as good communication and collaboration with our patients. Our clinic flow is intentional and focused, seeing 2-3 people per hour, and train you on systems so that you can give great treatments. We work as a team and are looking for a team-player that is interested and willing to be coached in micro-mindfulness skills that support our clinic as a whole. There will be required weekly meetings (zoom or in person) and use of your skills at the clinic.
